NEW ORLEANS, April 16, P. M.

Captain Bliven of the ship Republic, belonging to New York, died here of cholera.

Freight on Cotton to Liverpool now at 9.1-16 per bale.

The Cotton market is steady with fair sales.

Correspondence of the National Whig.

PITTSBURGH, April 17, P. M.

The markets are dull. Flour is declining.

The brokers to-day have refused to take the Pittsburg and Allegheny Stock. As the credit of the city and county is pledged for the redemption of this Stock, it is therefore considered folly to sacrifice it, and the Council has been called together on the subject, and is now in session in reference to the matter.

ARTISTIC INTELLIGENCE.

The National Academy of Design will not take possession of the lot in Broadway opposite Bond Street on which it has been agreed to erect its new building for its annual exhibitions. Some critics on the part of the owners of the ground is the assignation which prevents the fulfillment of their plan.

The Lithographic drawing done on stone by the late Mr. Cole is being printed in tint by Sarony and Company. It is in the best style, and will be published early in May by John P. Ridder. It is entitled "The Good Shepherd."

The next Print for the Western Art Union at Cincinnati will be engraved by Alfred Jones from a picture, "One of Life's Little Pleasures," exhibited by Mrs. J. M. H. G. at the National Academy. He recently sent home a good picture of Indian subjects which is well spoken of among Artists. He is now in Paris and intends returning to New York this spring.

Mr. N. French has been wintering at Florence.—He has written to London, his mother and may be expected home some time in June. Three of his recent pictures which show much progress, may be seen at Mr. Ridder's. They are "A View in Capri," "Vesuvius from Sorrento," and "Reminiscences of Southern Italy."

Mr. C. H. Smith is now in Paris. A picture by him is daily exposed here.

Mr. F. C. Graycey has sent home some good evidence of his improvement acquired abroad. Four pictures from his hands, may be seen at Mr. Ridder's, and from French's with a good specimen of the land of Capri in the distance. A sunset effect, and "Housetops at Sorrento, Mount Vesuvius—in the distance—afternoon" are one pair, and the other of smaller size are "The St. Angelo Mountains and Diana's Temple" and "The Shepherd's Home," a composition with figures, and the latter a desolate plain beyond. Mr. Graycey has spent the winter in Rome, and is now in his return home, by way of the continent.

Among those of the Artist Fraternity going abroad this summer are Edward White, J. B. Stearns and Edward Purcell, of this city, and MacKnight and W. H. Whipple of Cincinnati.—N. Y. Times.

REPTILES FROM OREGON.—In looking over the last number of Silliman's Journal, we find a scientific description of two specimens reptiles, recently obtained from Oregon by Rev. Dr. W. H. Brewer and in the possession of Mr. Silliman and the Transylvanian Society which are as follows:—Nat. Int.

Solidaria (Tritia) Granulata, U. S.—Tail about the length of the body, strongly compressed and caudally rounded. The dorsal whorls are wholly convex, covering one-fifth of the tip of the tail. Length five and a half inches, and color reddish brown above and orange beneath.

Tropidophorus Scincoides, U. S.—Slender, tail much longer than the body, cylindrical. Dermal plates on the head, and, on each side, beneath the vertical fins. The dorsal whorls in nine rows. Color dusky above, light ash color below. A row of small dark spots on each flank. Some of the dark-colored scales on the flanks tipped with a whitish color. Length five to five and a half inches.

These reptiles inhabit the country about the Dales of the Columbia, and by the Indians are esteemed poisonous.

From NICARAGUA.—Letters from Gordon's California, which he has written to New York in the brig May, to take the route to Leon, Nicaragua, have been received, dated March 25th. The company was destined there, to put their iron steamer together, which was to convey them up the San Juan river, and through Lake Nicaragua to the Pacific ocean, where they hope to find a market for their produce in France. They were all in good health. An agent of a New York house has succeeded in making an engagement with the government for the right of constructing a railroad from Lake Leon to the Pacific.

The transatlantic Cressent City, which was to leave New York for Chagos yesterday, takes out one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in bullion, gold, and quarter dollars. —Balt. Amer., 1860.
